To whom it may concern,

I am excited to apply for the National Security position with a focus on Counter Terrorism. As a highly motivated individual with a passion for protecting our nation, I believe that my skills and experience make me a strong candidate for this role.

I have a Master's degree in International Relations and a minor in Political Science. My academic background and real life experience has provided me with a strong foundation in the complex world of international security. I have excellent critical thinking and problem-solving skills and I have a proven ability to analyze complex information, identify trends, and develop innovative solutions to mitigate risks and threats.

During my time at the Department of Homeland Security, I worked on a variety of projects focused on countering terrorism. I was responsible for conducting threat assessments, analyzing intelligence reports, and identifying potential security risks. Through these experiences, I developed a keen eye for detail and an ability to work under pressure in fast-paced environments.

I also bring a deep understanding of international relations, which I believe is essential for addressing the complex nature of terrorism. I have experience working with foreign partners and collaborating with international agencies, which has taught me the importance of building relationships and effective communication.

I am confident that my skills and experience make me a strong candidate for this position, and I am eager to bring my knowledge and expertise to your team. Thank you for considering my application and I look forward to hearing back from you.

Sincerely,

Gabby Delgado
